Acknowledgements

We are grateful to Dr John Blatchly, Chairman of the Suffolk Records Society for introducing us to the accounts and for suggesting that we might undertake the task of transcribing them. He has given much good advice and encouragement as the work progressed. Dr David Dymond kindly answered the many editorial queries that we raised and William Serjeant's painstaking checking of our preliminary drafts drew attention to many errors that would otherwise have escaped our notice. We are also grateful to Dr David Allen, Michael Begley and George Pipe for helping with specific queries and to the staff of the Suffolk Record Office in Ipswich for their unfailing help. For such errors and shortcomings that may remain we are entirely responsible. Finally, the depositing and subsequent publication of these transcripts with the AHDS History and the UK Data Archive has been funded by the Suffolk Records Society.

Introduction

The churchwardens' accounts provide a detailed insight of the life of an urban parish adjusting to the demands of changing religious and civic life from the early part of Elizabeth's reign to the Restoration.

Religious Transition, Dissension and Conflict

In the initial years the accounts are dominated by the struggle to raise money to provide for clergy and sexton in the aftermath of the Dissolution. Previously Augustinian canons from the priory of St Peter and St Paul had officiated. As well as the levying of a rate for the 'gathering of the minister's and sexton's wages assessed of the parishioners', (1564-5, folio 1v) the accounts record periodic receipts from Mr Withipoll, (owner of the advowson and holder of large tithes) eg 'for his half year due unto our minister at the 'Feast of thannunciation of Our Lady' and at 'the Feast of St Michael tharchangell'. The phraseology suggests a residual influence of the old religion far removed from the expressions and attitudes evident a century later, eg the language to justify the dismissal by the parish of churchwarden James Blithe for his failure to uphold the parish's 'ancient' right to elect and appoint their own minister. (1663; folio 109r).

Religious dissension is reflected in 1616 by payments '...concerning the presentment of recusants by Master Chancellor's command' and in 1617 the minister Mathias Mann was the subject of a petition to the Bishop to arbitrate in a dispute over payment and his refusal to leave the parish. In 1636 (folio 71v) payment was made 'for the rail in the chancel' presumably in response to Laudian requirements. The accounts of 1652 record another conflict when legal action against parishioner Jeremy Cole was threatened for the recovery of a silver bowl and plate 'which rest in his hands.' Sadly, the circumstances in which he refused to hand over the disputed items are not stated. His signature is endorsed 'desents' among the others ordering proceedings against him (folio 98v). Signatures at the conclusion of each account increased from four when they first appear in 1566 (one with merchant's mark; folio 9r) to 31 in 1664, (some with symbols or marks,) indicative of a continuing transition towards extended involvement by members of the congregation in the affairs of the parish.

In the final years the accounts detail an unsuccessful claim by the parish upon Viscount Hereford of Christchurch for payment of 56 years arrears towards the provision of ‘an able minister’ (1663; folio 110r). Subsequently a copy of an Order in Council made in 1640 annulling such liabilities was obtained and is included with the accounts (folio 110v).

Parish Property

Periodic inventories of parish goods and equipment include items relating to the conduct of services, eg obtaining copies of Erasmus’ Paraphrases, books of homilies and in 1603 ‘a carpet for the communion table’. More mundane items for parish use include ‘a newe furr ladder’ in 1584 (folio 26r) made by churchwarden Robert Dabenye, a local carpenter whose other handiwork includes the cucking stool now preserved in Christchurch Mansion, Ipswich.

Building and Maintenance of the Church Fabric and Churchyard

Of particular interest are the accounts relating to the rebuilding of the east wall of the chancel in 1593 (folio 30r). The accounts also provide a wealth of detailed information of expenditure for various material and tools, as well as the services of craftsmen and labour needed for routine repairs to the fabric of the church, the boundary walls of the graveyard and paving and cleansing of adjacent streets. Among various labouring tasks performed were small amounts paid to parishioners named Wolsey, possibly relatives of the former Cardinal Archbishop, a native of the borough.

Charity

Details of payments resulting from Matthew Brownrigge’s significant benefaction for ‘the setting of the poore on worke for ever’ are featured from 1641 until entries cease without explanation in 1650. There are also records of occasional disbursements to ‘the most poor and impotent’ of the parish; also occasional gifts to poor scholars, mariners, soldiers, etc. including ‘a Skottish gentleman’ in 1632 (folio 65v).

Presentation of Accounts

The accounts (in English) are of great interest in the way in which they were written and compiled, with considerable variations in pattern and style of presentation. Roman numerals (without £ s. d. columns) were used initially to record quantities of materials and money, with a gradual, at times clearly hesitant transition to Arabic. A mixture of Roman and Arabic numerals sometimes occurs in the same accounts, eg 1570; folio 11v). The standard of penmanship varies with each set of churchwardens, ranging from accomplished hands to those who were, perhaps, more used to holding the tools of their various trades than pens!

Editorial Conventions

Conventions used are based largely on those of the Suffolk Records Society.

Original spelling has been retained for complete words, but abbreviations are expanded where the meaning is clear; spelling of the expansion used follows that of the initial entry in cases where the word has been given in full, eg pd = paid or payed, etc. Where this is not given, modern spelling has been used. Original arithmetic calculations have been followed, even where these are incorrect. Sub columns are in italics.

Light punctuation has been added where this clarifies meaning.

Use of capital letters has been modernised.

Roman figures have been changed to Arabic, except where embedded in text.

Abbreviated signatures such as Jn^o, Jo, Robt, Willm, Tho, etc have been expanded to John, Robert, William, Thomas, etc.

Abbreviations in the text have been expanded as follows:

Whereas upon the twentieth day of Aprill last at a generall meeting of the parrishioners of the said parrish Mr Samuell Goulty was by them elected and chosen as minister for the said parrish, since which it appears that Mr Samuell Aldus upon a pretended authority and grant from the right honourable Leicester Lord Viscount Hereford, did on the 28th of the same month privately and without the consent of the parrishioners enter into the said church and take possession thereof as his right to preach there as minister. Wee whose names are subscribed, inhabitants of the said parrish doe hereby declare the said Mr Aldus his taking possession of the said church as minister is illegall and contrary to the ancient liberty and custome used in the said parrish and that the said Lord Hereford hath noe right to present a minister for the said parrish, but that the said Mr Goulty being generally soe elected is our lawfull and only minister untill the parrishioners shall thinke fitt to make choyse of another, wittenes our hands this 4th day of May 1663.

St Peters parrish in Ipswich

At a generall meeting of the inhabitants of the said parrish the 17th day of November 1663 It was then ordered that Mr John Cole, Peter Cole, Joseph Hubbard and John Dyre together with Mr Joseph Harley should forthwith goe to my Lord of Hereford and make demand of some monies due to the said parrish from his lordshipp and his predecessors being an annuity of three pounds per annum formerly payable to the said parrish for and towards the maintenance of a minister in the said parrish, and unpaid for the terme of six and fifty years or more.

November 19th 1663

The above said parties went to my Lord of Hereford in order to demand the above said debt who after debate about the bussines told the said parties that hee would not pay a penny of it, and that if he must pay it hee would pay it elsewhere.

At a generall meeting of the inhabitants of the said parrish the 21th of November 1663

Whereas it doth appeare unto us the inhabitants of the said parrish that the greate tythes of the same have beene annually payd to the Lord of Hereford and his predecessors for many yeares past as their proper right and interest, and that in [?lieu] thereof the said Lord Hereford and his predecessors ought to have payd yearely the summe of three pounds to the churchwardens of the said parrish for and towards the maintenance of an able minister there, but have neglected the payment thereof for the space of six and fifty yeares past or more, and whereas upon the 19th instant the said annuity of three pounds with the arrears was reasonably demanded of the said Lord of Hereford by severall persons thereunto appointed who affirme and say that the said Lord of Hereford did then refuse and deny to pay the same or any part thereof.

Wee therefore whose names are subscribed inhabitants of the said parrish being fully satisfied as to the justnesse of the debt doe hereby mutually consent and agree to use all such lawfull meanes for recovery of the same as by councells learned in the lawe shall bee thought meete and convenient, and to that end wee doe hereby nominate authorise and appoint Luke Jowers gent: Andrew Sorrell Esq, Joseph Hubbard and William Harrison churchwardens forthwith to commence a suite against the said Lord of Hereford either in the High Court of Chancery or else where in order to the recovery of the said three pounds a yeare with the arrears thereof and doe hereby engage and promise to pay or cause to bee payd from tyme to tyme our severall proportions and shares of all such charges and costs as shall bee payd out and disbursed by the persons above said in the obtayning and recovering of the said three pounds a yeare with the arrears thereof. In wittnes whereof wee have hereunto putt our severall hands and [?marks] the day and yeare above written.

A true coppie of the order of the councell board dated the 6th of January 1640 for nulling former orders for imposing rates in severall parrishes in Ipswich to maintaine their ministers and empowering the said parrishes to elect their stipendary ministers.

At the Court at Whitehall 6 January 1640

Present: The King's most Excellent Majesty, Lord Treasurer, Lord Privy Seale, Lord Duke of Lenox, Earle Marshall, Lord Chamberlaine, Earl of Dorsett, Earl of Salisbury, Earl of Berkshire, Earl of Holland, Earl of La[?v]erick, Earl of Corke, Lord Cottington, Mr Treasurer, Mr Comptroller, Lord Chief Justice Littleton

Whereas by an order of the board dated 29 March 1637 It was ordered amongst other things the baylieffs of Ipswich for the tyme being and such others as are mentioned in and authorised by the statutes of 13^o Elizabeth shall from tyme to tyme by virtue thereof tax and leavie competent rates for the maintenance of the same churches.

And whereas by the same order the nomination of ministers in certaine parrishes in Ipswich is declared to bee in his Majestie, and a rate directed to bee sett upon the parrishioners for their maintenance according to former voluntary contributions, and certaine other parrishes in Ipswich referred to the consideration of the two Lord Chief Justices and the Lord Chief Baron for the like regulation.

And whereas upon the part of the said three Lords Chief Justices that the other parrishes in Ipswich were comprehended within the statute of 13^o Elizabeth it was by another order of the board dated 30th of May 1637 ordered amongst other things that a competent maintenance should bee rated and taxed by the baylieffs of the said towne for the said minist[?er].

It was this day ordered by his Majestie with the advice of their Lordships that both the said orders of the 29th of March and of the 30th of May 1637 shall bee hereby totally vacated and disannulled and that all such rates and taxes as have beene made by the baylieffs and others of the said towne upon or by virtue of the said orders or either of them shall bee likewise voyd and of noe validity from henceforth.

And that the nomination of stipendary ministers to the said parrishes shall stand and remaine as they were before the said orders made, and that as well all the bussines and matters conteyned in the said severall orders, as the parties whom the same doth or may concerne shall bee left to the ordinary course of justice.
